The game between the Gem Men and the Rosemary Gunners, which last turned out to be a hard fought battle, soft ice was the big draw back for a fast game, but the Gem boys brought home the victory with a score of 3-2.

BEARCATS AND GUNNERS TIE IN FIXTURE THURSDAY NIGHT

A record crowd was in attendance at the local ice arena last Thursday to watch the local Bearcats pace the fast stepping Gunners, and many hours of exciting hockey and come away well satisfied with a tie score of 5-5. It was an ideal night for hockey and both teams did justice to it by turning on the pressure for almost the entire 60 minutes, with only occasional let up when the lines were compelled to stay on the ice too long.

The first period opened with the Bearcats taking an early 3 goal lead on smart passing plays that seemed to be the trademark of the Gunners. Both teams were almost complete command of the play checking the Gunners' rushes almost before they got started. Near the end of this period Cam Brown of the Gunners was left uncovered from behind and scored a goal past McIrdle for their first counter. This goal seemed to give the Gunners renewed life, for the balance of the period featured wide open hockey as the visitors intent on narrowing the gap. The Gunners had the play around but as intent on keeping the play around the Gunners never letting up in spite of their substantial lead.

In the second period the local teams were unable to make plays in the time being trying to force their way through the Gunner defense with not much success. Around the half way mark the Gunners had found the Bearcats net twice, the first being a goal from the gunners return to let in and continued to press and only the great work of Roberts in the Gleichen net saved the Gunners from being score on after time.

In the third period the locals reverted to their passing plays and took almost immediate possession of territorial play. Clifford of the Gunners broke down the side and foisted McIrdle with a close in shot to put

ANTI—COMMUNISTIC

HITLER ROSE to power in Germany on an Anti-Communistic platform; the man to internally and externally according to the Nazi Chief was Russia and the Communistic State.

Mussolini achieved his present position on much the same platform, and the Rome-Berlin Axis was created ostensibly as an Anti-Communistic pact.

Communism may still be the chief enemy of Fascism and Nazism. So far as we are aware, neither Hitler nor Mussolini, while they criticize the efficiency of the democracies, have ever declared the democracies to be enemies of the Fascist or Nazi States.

Developments over the period of the last two years tend to show that the Rome-Berlin Axis is in grave danger of developing into an Anti-Fascist Axis, as well as an Anti-Communistic one.

Germany has recently announced her determination to increase her navy and has used Russian Naval building as one of the main reasons for this move, but more probably Germany is increasing her navy to off-set in part the present British Naval superiority. Apparently supreme in the air and on land her next ambition is to reach parity on the sea.

DEMOCRACY AND DEFENCE

AMERICANS of every party and place will join in applauding President Roosevelt's eloquent call for stronger defense in his annual message to Congress. Particularly appealing was his linking of three "indispensable" institutions:

The defense of religion, of democracy and of good faith among nations is all the same fight. To save one we must now make up our minds to save all!

On that common ground, the national unity which Mr. Roosevelt termed essential to defense is instantly achieved.

In the debate which must follow when defense gets into more specific terms and questions of What? Where? How? begin to divide, it will be well to remember this broad basis of unity. For quickly the President's message itself invokes questions. There is anything but national unity on many features of the Administration's domestic program, particularly on the two main phases the President mentioned, its methods for bringing "capital and man-power together" and its policy of "national investment" out of an unbalanced budget.

But those policies need further discussion and for the moment it will be well to keep to defense, for that is the dominant and dynamic element of the President's program today. One of the inevitable questions which arise when we start to think through the defense problem is, "What is to be defended?" Mr. Roosevelt gives a clear answer—"Religion, democracy and good faith among nations." He says the challenge is economic and military, and would of course include defense of national economic and territorial interests.

It is well to think of all these things, for they enter into the next question about defense: "Where?" Mr. Roosevelt's answer is in effect, At home, by making democracy work in the Western Hemisphere, by "Continental solidarity" along the Lima lines; and wherever American ideals or interests are attached; by ending neutrality legislation which may give "aid to an aggressor" by readiness of armed defense which will lessen the probability of attack."

In this reply the President partially answers the other question: "How defend democracy?" In a few days he will make further answer in specific recommendations to Congress or increase and improvement of the armed forces and mobilization of industrial resources. This may be called technical defense. The army and navy want efficiency first of all—steady, careful building. The President apparently is interested in a quicker, more spectacular program that could be used primarily for what may be called diplomatic defense. The American people will need to know much about these two coming in the next few months. On this question they must, "know what is going on and where they are going."

For here is where misunderstanding and differences will be hardest to meet. Americans are awakening to the fact that they cannot live unto themselves. Their supposedly isolated country has been profoundly affected by the shifting of a border 4,000 miles away in Europe and by an undelared war 6,000 miles away across the Pacific. They do not know how vitally their national interests are affected but their own emotions have convinced that they could not keep out of a world war.

They will attempt more vigorously than in 1917 to make sure that it is really democracy they are called on to defend—they have no illusions about the score in Latin America and in Europe—but they recognize that democracy must extend beyond the seas of the continent. They will applaud Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that "war is not the only means of commanding a decent respect for the opinions of mankind." They will support the stronger economic and diplomatic measures the Administration is taking and preparing to take.

Most of them like to see economic sanctions really applied before military measures are attempted. And judging by articles and hundreds of letters submitted for the Monitor's special democracy issue of January 11, an overwhelming number believe that the defense of democracy is what the President called the "underlying strength of citizenship." The peasant spiritual rearmament of the Americas is a task which the people of the Americas must in fully appreciated and utilized. They would like to see the defensive implications of the President's statement that religion "is the source of the other two—democracy and international good faith" really carried out in the daily living of democrats.

WHEAT TRADING NOT GAMBLING

MUCH PUBLICITY is being given a decision of the Canadian Supreme Court to the effect that marginal trading in wheat is not gambling within the meaning of the Criminal Code of Canada. The Court declared marginal trading in wheat has a legitimate place in grain marketing and that those who enter into contracts of this kind are legally bound to fulfill them.—Wheat Pool Budget.

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?

ARE FACTIONS IN SMALL TOWNS beneficial? One hears—comment on the spirit of discord which exists in so many small towns. People are quite willing to admit that such a condition is prevalent in their own home town, and possibly has a bearing on the voting fact there for, but how many individuals or organizations are doing this—in a constructive way, to quiet down and do away with this vicious, undermining, evil thing known as the "small town scrap"? When the causes of this pernicious rowing are sifted out it is often difficult to discover what it's all about.—Shaunavon Standard.

MR. KING CANNOT be allowed to have it coming and going. Three years ago, when Mr. Stevens broke with Mr. Bennett, Mr. King thought that national unity could be maintained only by having our nine planets swinging around a federal leader who could conduct with harmony and rhythm the music of the spheres. He got the baton of conductor, but Quebec left the orchestra and Ontario began to utter sour notes that made the music anything but melodious. Now this once harmonious instrument breaks from shrill and strident trebles or a low and ominous bass at the very time when the occasion demands a concord of sweet sounds. The leader thereupon declares, that unity and harmony are essential and asks the listeners-in to reconstruct his orchestra. Apparently no one else can fuse the music into one harmonious whole and he must have another try at it.—Vulcan Advocate.

SPEECHLESS LUNCHEONS

SPEECHLESS LUNCHEONS! What a balm and boon to ears battered by "We have with us today" and "That reminds me. A dream? No. It did happen in New York the other day. Not only were the speakers speechless, but the guests almost so when Mayor La Guardia, presiding at a luncheon to Colonel Fulgencio Batista, Chief of the Constitutional Army of Cuba, turned to the guest of honor and smilingly said: "This program is going to be different Colonel Batista. You are not going to have to listen to any speeches." The distinguished guest was as delighted as the others.

Such an occasion has revolutionary possibilities. Will other organizations follow suit? Of course, it is always a source of wonder how audiences sit there, listening to countless speeches at luncheons, dinners and other public occasions. They not only stand it, but come back for more. Besides accepting invitations to dinners and other speech-making occasions of all kinds of organizations, they form innumerable luncheon clubs of their own where they hear more innumerable.

Probably not everyone will yet speak up for speechless public occasions. Luncheons and dinners do serve as sounding boards for many significant messages, and rallying points and springboards for many important civic, educational, and community enterprises. Perhaps the proposal to omit speeches suggests essentially the need of improving the content and quality of those given — and heroic shortening of their length.—Revelstoke Review.

SOMETHING OVER WHICH TO PONDER

IN THE YEAR 1937, Western Canada raised 159 million bushels of wheat, the value of which at current market prices was $163,290,000 net to the producer. In 1938 the West produced 324 million bushels of wheat, the value of which was given as $184,380,000. Western Canada more than doubled its production in 1938 over the previous year, but the increased price was only a little over $21,000,000 greater.

If there had been no minimum price the cash value would have been only $119,580,000, based on prevalent open market values, or nearly $43,000,000 less than the cash value of the 1937 crop, which was less than half as large as the 1938 yield. —Drumheller Mail.

THE DEBT BURDEN

EVERY ACRE THAT IS SEEDED in Saskatchewan next spring will carry a debt burden of $25. That is the estimate made by a professor of the University of Saskatchewan. He calculated the total burden on the farm population of that province to be $645 million.

It would be interesting to make a similar compilation of the debt burden on Alberta farm land. While the total here would not approach the Saskatchewan figure it is possible that it would assume fairly large proportions.

Some solution will have to be found for the farm debts. Seemingly there are three alternatives:

1. Premier Aberhart's policy of moratoria and gradual elimination of debt through arbitrary legislation; 2. The arriving at compromises between debtor and creditor before tribunals debt legislation and a return to the ordinary legal procedure of established particularly for that purpose; 3. The jettison of all foreclosure through the courts.

The first proposal is not the proper method. Those people who can pay should pay. That is only right and decent. The last proposal is unthinkable. It would mean throwing the farm population to the wolves. The second suggestion seems the most sensible.

The farm debt problem will have to be effectively dealt with sooner or later. The more general the discussion on it now the sooner a reasonable and workable plan will be developed.—Hanna Herald.

The visitors ahead for the first time. Soon after this, a rolling pack caught McBride unawares when it rolled clear from the blueline into the Bearcats' camp net. The gunners also got up, and a loose ball put on the ice by McBride and again Roberts alone kept out of the scoring column when he turned aside shot after shot that seemed to be labeled for a goal. About the 15-minute mark Cadors broke down across the ice and blasted away like drivers from a team of horses that completely foiled Roberts putting the Bearcats in a threatening position with only one goal deficit. The locals then pulled one defense move that was to prove the turning point on the power play that a multitude pending attack that completely hemmed the Gunners in behind their blueline. Snaring a loose puck the Bearcats made a three way passing play, drew the locals out of their net and made quite difficult to engage the score. They kept the pressure on but with only a few seconds to go they were unable to break the tie.

It was a clean hard fought game with referee Iva Warren doing out only minor infractions. The score remained right up high in the second period when Marquardt was right through and drawing Roberts out of his goal he was able to flip the puck into the net when T. Brown of Gleichen pulled his feet, but penalty was awarded but a penalty shot was taken by the Bearcats. That was the last of the period and the shot on goal. Again in th third period the crowd was brought on edge when Clifford of Gleichen and Bassano of Bassano dropped their sticks to engage the Bearcats who have proven themselves to be a team that never lets up, goes into action.

H. A. Ross, came to District in '16

An old-timer in the Bassano District, Mr. Harry Alexander Ross, passes away in the Bassano Hospital on Tuesday morning, Jan. 10th, following a lingering illness of several weeks.

Mr. Ross was born in 1868, when he was employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Lethbridge, Alta. In 1885, his services were retained by the Eastern Irrigation District, where he took over the project for the Bow River Co. Prior to this, Mr. Ross had been associated as a country broker in the Calgary District. His merits as a judge of poultry were highly recognized throughout the province, and many times he occupied a judges chair at the next meeting, which will be the Annual Meeting. Officers will be chosen next year will be elected and a new office. A nomination committee is being appointed to present nominees to the members.

Protests to the conditions of the main highway between the cities of Calgary and Medicine Hat are being made by the various Boards of Trade along the highway, and it was agreed that Bassano should also protest. Protestants in requesting that some action be taken by the government in commencing a hard surfacing program extending from Calgary East to the Saskatchewan Border. The series are now intended to write to the Minister of Commerce to advise him that they instruct the provincial government to make this their next hard surfacing project. A letter to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce asking for their support in this matter, was also sent to be forwarded to the Canadian Fish and Shellfish Commission. Calgarians were introduced to the meeting, Mr. Smith District Supervisor of Calgary Power Co., and Mr. McNaull Chartered Accountant. In reply to Mr. McNaull's question as to why the Boats were not a success in the Bassano district, as he had visited on numerous occasions dating as far back as '13, Mr. Smith, in a short talk, expressed his pleasure at being able to attend the meeting and explained for the benefit of the audience the new scheme for determining the service charge made by the company, which if found to be satisfactory by consumers, would be placed in effect in the near future. A hearty hand shake was exchanged between the two visitors.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. H. E. Riley, local Calgary Power Manager, for valuable services he had willingly donated to the Boats in the erection of the decorative street lights, and other matters. The Board of Trade, and others, were interested in assisting with any new improvement that the Board felt would be an asset to the Town, and his assistance is certainly deeply appreciated.

The meeting adjourned at approximately 9:10 p.m.

Gleichen Rink Defeats Bassano in Play-downs

In one of the closest contested games held at the Gleichen Rink, Gleichen, Dan MacDonald and his rink gained a well earned victory over the local McLawns quartet. In the intersections provincial play down days the MacDonald Brier cup, emblematic of curling supremacy, was in Canada. Brooks and Gleichen played here Wednesday, Jan. 11th, for this division. Club entries were expected by Cluny and Arrowood.

MacDonald, Gleichen skip showed exceptional form especially in the second end and undoubtedly deserved the win while the same while the Bassano skipper was very erratic. Coming home in the 12th end, McLawns were two down, the score 10-5. With Bassano laying four, MacDonald played back ring weight to attempt to close out the game. The last rock of Bassano was more than a foot. McLawns drew in for five. In the 13th end both Young and Simpson were rather light allowing Gleichen to pile up rocks in the ring. McLawns last rock was a trifling wide giving Gleichen a 12-10 decision.

Coming home in the 12th end, MacDonald we hope you go on to Toronto.

GLEICHEN: — Desforges, Haskayne Reid, MacDonald, skip.

BASSANO: — Keith, Young, Simpson, McLawns, skip.

Both Bassano and Gleichen defeated the Marcy ring of Brooks by scores of 14-10 and 8-8 respectively to gain the finals.

BROOKS: — Haunusen, Berry, Crooks, Marcy, skip.

In two special good-will events the Oxford rink of Gleichen won and lost a game to a Bassano squad of veterans.

In the first game Gleichen were down coming home on the 13th and managed to put in three to defeat the Currie skippered squad, 13-12.

In the evening Jack Stornane skippered the Bassano quartet to a 13-2 defeat.

BASSANO: — Stornane, Currie, Riley, Beeler.

GLEICHEN: — Clifford, Brown, James Bond.
